

HANDS-ON INNOVATION IN ACTION!

The College of Pharmacy at Qatar University recently hosted an exciting workshop titled “Medical Nanotechnology in Action: Synthesizing Silver Nanoparticle-Infused Pharmaceutical Gels” as part of the PharmESP25 Conference.

The workshop was organized by Prof. Alaaldin Alkilany and Ms. Arshiya Husaini, offering students a unique opportunity to experience the power of nanotechnology through hands-on lab work. Additionally, the workshop featured an inspirational meeting with Prof. Khloud Al-Jammal from King’s College London and Dr. Kholoud Abdulla from Qatar University, which deeply motivated students to explore more about research, science, and innovation.

A big thank you to all the students, assistants, and organizers who made this event a great success!
